This screenshot shows a complex grid of course selection options. The interface is heavily stylized with a dark background and vibrant colors (red, blue, green, yellow). At the top, there are several tabs and a navigation bar. The main area is filled with rows of course information, including course numbers, names, and selection buttons. A prominent red bar runs across the middle of the grid, possibly indicating a selection status or a warning. The text is small and difficult to read due to the low resolution and high contrast.
